PUBLICATION OFFICE, FRANKLIN SQUARE (330 PEARL STREET), NEW YORK.

VOL. XL., No. 14.

NEW YORK, October 3, 1891.

WHOLE No. 1027.

JUST PUBLISHED.

"The Leading Novel of the Year."

THE FAITH DOCTOR

By EDWARD EGGLESTON,

Author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," "The Circuit Rider," Etc.

12mo, Cloth, $1.50.

MIDSHIPMAN PAULDING.

By MOLLY ELLIOT SEAWELL, author of "Little Jarvis." A true story of the War of 1812. With six full-page illustrations. 8vo, bound uniformly with "Little Jarvis," $1.00.

PRESS OPINIONS OF "LITTLE JARVIS."

"It is what a boy would call 'a real boy's book.'"—Charleston News and Courier.

"The author makes the tale strongly and simply pathetic, and has given the world what will make it better."
—Hartford Courant.

"Not since Dr. Edward Everett Hale's classic, 'The Man without a Country,' has there been published a more stirring lesson in patriotism."—Boston Beacon.

NEW EDITION.

EVOLUTION AND ITS RELATION TO RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

By JOSEPH LE CONTE, Professor of Geology and Natural History in the University of California; author of "Elements of Geology," "Religion and Science," etc. New and revised edition. With numerous illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

First issued about three years ago, this work has already had four editions, previous to the present one, and has proved to be one of the most satisfactory of the many discussions tending to establish the consistency of fundamental religious beliefs with the known laws of development.

"Prof. Le Conte knows the ground on which he stands, and has conquered his right to be there. . . . He is a man in whom reverence and imagination have not become desiccated by a scientific atmosphere, but flourish, in due subordination and control, to embellish and vivify his writings. Those who know them have come to expect a peculiar alertness of mind and freshness of method in any new work by this author, whether his conclusions be such as they are ready to receive or not."—The Nation.

ROBERTS BROTHERS'

RECENT BOOKS.

My Threescore Years and Ten.

An Autobiography. By THOMAS BALL, A.M. With engraved portrait by Thomas Johnson and portraits of his mother and his wife; also phototype of model of Washington, made for Mr. Edward F. Searles. Demy 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

This is the life of one of America's most eminent sculptors, still living and pursuing his art in Florence, Italy. Mr. Ball's reminiscences are so delightfully told by him that the reader cannot help being instructed and charmed. The present edition is a limited one, and the work will not be reproduced in its present shape.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE WORTHINGTON COMPANY will publish at once in their Rose Library "Asmodeus, or, the devil upon two sticks," by Le Sage, with designs by Tony Johannot.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. will publish about the middle of this month "The Law and the Prophets," by the Rev. Stanley Leathes. The book is the outcome of a suggestion made by Canon Liddon a few months before his death that Canon Leathes should write a book showing the Mosaic authorship of the Pentateuch. The evidence presented in this volume is said to be "of a most convincing and conclusive character."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready "Austin Phelps," a memoir by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps; "The Sabbath in Puritan New England," by Alice Morse Earle; "The Business of Life," a book for every one, by the author of "How to be Happy Though Married," etc.; and new and revised editions of Henry Van Dyke's "The Poetry of Tennyson" and John Rae's important work on "Contemporary Socialism."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just ready a holiday edition of Oliver Wendell Holmes' "The One-Hoss Shay," with its companion poems, "How the Old Horse Won the Bet" and "The Broomstick Train," with 60 illustrations by Howard Pyle; a Catalogue of Casts in the Museum of Fine Arts of Boston, which is not merely a catalogue but a valuable contribution to the history of art; and new editions of Mrs. C. Van D. Chenoweth's "Stories of the Saints," "The Historical, Political and Diplomatic Writings of Niccolò Machiavelli," translated by Christian E. Detmold; and Sheridan's "Rivals" and "School for Scandal," edited by Brander Matthews.

ROBERTS BROTHERS have just ready "My Threescore Years and Ten," an autobiography by Thomas Ball, one of America's eminent sculptors, and the following six most interesting books for young people: "Betty, a Butterfly," by A. G. Plympton, author of "Dear Daughter Dorothy," illustrated by the author; "The Electrical Boy, or, the careers of Richard Greatman and George Greatthings," by Prof. John Trowbridge, of Harvard University, fully illustrated; "Jolly Good Times at Hackmatack," by Mary P. Wells Smith, author of "Jolly Good Times," etc., which particular "jolly good times" are located in a farming town among the hills of Western Massachusetts; "Old Rough the Miser," by Lily F. Wesselhoeft, a decided acquisition to the author's "Fable Stories," with 21 handsome illustrations; "Jack O'Dreams," a child's story-book, by Julie M. Lippmann, illustrated by Jessie McDermott; and "Last Words," by Mrs. Juliana Horatia Ewing, a final collection of stories by this celebrated writer, containing illustrations and a new portrait of the author.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "The Faith Doctor," by Edward Eggleston, author of "The Circuit Rider," etc. In "The Faith Doctor" the author has entered a new field, the life of the metropolis, and he deals with a most curious and interesting development of modern life and with varied and interesting phases of metropolitan society. The remarkable favor with which "The Faith Doctor" has been received in the course of the serial publication in The Century Magazine is sufficient guarantee of the cordial reception which will be given to this masterly work when published in book form. They will publish at once in their Town and Country Library a new novel by Miss Beatrice Whitby, entitled "One Reason Why." Miss Whitby, who will be remembered as the author of "The Awakening of Mary Fenwick," has been engaged upon this new book for some time. It will be a longer and in some respects a more important work than anything which she has done for over a year. They have in preparation a large-paper edition of Bancroft's "History of the United States." It is to be issued in six volumes, and will be limited to one hundred numbered copies.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon af. flication.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.) D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Th. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Adams, H. Historical essays. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1891. c. 3+422 p. D. cl., $2.

Contents: Primitive rights of women; Captain John Smith; Harvard College, 1786-1787; Napoleon I. at St. Domingo; The Bank of England restriction; The declaration of Paris, 1861; The legal tender act; The New York gold conspiracy; The session 1869-1870; Index.

Adams, W. T. ["Oliver Optic." pseud.] Stand by the Union. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1892 [1891.] c. 2-367 p. il. D. (The blue and the gray ser., no. 4.) cl., $1.50.

Two cousins resembling each other very much—one an officer in the U. S. Navy, the other a Confederate—are the heroes of this volume of the "Blue and gray series." Christy Passford is well known to readers of the series, as is his cousin "Corny." The latter steals his cousin's commission as commander of the U. S. S. Bronx, and endeavors to steal the vessel for the Confederates, representing himself as the real commander. For a while his imposition is successful, and the plot promises to go through. But Christy regains his vessel and his command after many thrilling incidents.

Allen, Grant. Recalled to life. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1891. c. 3+230 p. S. (Leisure hour ser.) cl., $1; pap., 40 c.

Una Callingham's recollections only began with her eighteenth year. All her life up to a certain moment, when present at the killing of her father, was a blank to her; the shock of what she had witnessed had destroyed her mind. The effort to unravel this supposed murder and to bring the girl back to a consciousness of the past is the story. An automatic photographic apparatus containing six negatives, which is set going during the murder, plays a large part in the story, as the negatives show six successive stages of the crime. A bicycle is used by the supposed murderer in his flight, and other modern inventions are brought in.

Allen, Willis Boyd. The boyhood of John Kent. Bost., Congregational S. S. & Pub. Soc., [1891.] c. 3-368 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

John Kent was the son of a humble but intelligent carpenter in Boston. Between him and his father existed a somewhat unusual companionship. Each was wholly wrapped up in the interests of the other, and the two understood each other in a way which is rare among fathers and sons. This is the most important feature in the story. But next to it is the charming friendship between John and Dorrie, a little crippled girl.

Allen, Willis Boyd. John Brownlow's folks. Bost., D. Lothrop Co., [1891.] c. 248 p. il. D. cl., $1.

The Brownlows are plain, homely Bostonians, hard-working folk living in a quiet back street and using very ungrammatical language. They are perpetually getting into funny predicaments by their over-anxiety and their lack of worldly wisdom. They visit Nantasket Beach and the Boston Museum, and have other amusements followed by strange experiences.

Baby's picture-book. Chic., H. J. Smith & Co., [1891.] c. unpub. col. il. Q. (Rosy cheek ser.) bds., 40 c. Only pictures.

Badt, F. B. Electric transmission hand-book. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand Co., 1891. 97 p. il. 16°, cl., 75 c.

Bamford, Mary E. Eleanor and I: a tale of the days of King Richard II. Bost., Congregational S. S. & Pub. Soc., [1891.] c. 335 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The story which Hugh tells of his sister and himself is one which reveals the almost incredible ignorance and superstition of the times in which it is laid. While Hugh is away at school Eleanor hears Wickliffe preach, learns to read the Bible for herself, and rejoices in her direct access to Christ. The brother does not obtain his freedom until after a journey to the shrine of St. Thomas a Becket for some charms with which to cure Eleanor, who is seized with a mortal illness. Her death, despite all that he has done, opens his eyes to the worthlessness of saints' relics, and the copy of the gospel left by his sister completes the work.

Bamford, Mary E. Janet and her father. Bost., Congregational S. S. & Pub. Soc., [1891.] c. 2-201 p. il. D. cl., $1.

The scene is laid in Scotland in the time of persecution under James II., in which the brutal Claverhouse took so prominent a part. Janet's father is among those who have to flee and hide from the merciless dragoons. Though he escapes their clutches and the family is spared, yet others suffer, and the lessons of heroic martyrdom appear here in full power.

- Carmen: the song of the toreador; il. by Frank M. Gregory. N. Y., Brentano's, 1891. c. unp. Q. cl., $2; pap., silken-tied, $1.50.
Thirty designs in monotints illustrate the favorite melody of Bizet's "Carmen." The music of the song is given.
- Clarke, R. S., ["Sophie May," pseud.] In old Quinebasset. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1892 [1891.] c. 353 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
This is a story for the youngest and the oldest. It is a quaint picture, admirably done, of the Quinebasset of a hundred years ago. The little heroine, Elizabeth, is as well versed in politics as her elders, and is the author of many bright speeches. The closing days of the Revolution, with Washington as the central figure and the first President of the Republic, is the framework of a pretty romance.
- Coleridge, Christobel R. Fifty pound: a sequel to "The green girls of Greythorpe." N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1891. 246 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.
- Cone, Helen Gray. The ride to the lady and other poems. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., [1891.] c. 93 p. D. cl., $1.
Good sense, an appreciation of the deeper currents of human life, a wise thoughtfulness, an instinctive love of beauty and of the varied charm of nature and an adequate literary form distinguish the forty poems forming this little volume.

- Curtiss, Alice Eddy. The silver cross: a story of the King's Daughters; [also,] Miss Marigold's tithes. Bost., Congregational S. S. & Pub. Soc., [1891.] c. 3-328 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
In the first story Mary, a poor girl, almost an invalid, comes to Conner street, and having had the Order of King's Daughters explained to her, tries to "lend a hand" wherever she can. Conner street is a rough street, but Mary becomes a saint in the eyes of its denizens, and she works wonders among them. Miss Marigold is a sunny-faced old maid who is always doing kind and thoughtful deeds for neighbors, and stimulates others to this same sweet way of doing.

Treats the subject from a popular standpoint for the use of the general reader. States the causes of dyspepsia, the way to avoid it, the best food to eat, etc.
- De Witt's school dialogues. N. Y., De Witt Pub. House, 1891. c. 100 p. 16°, (Superior ser., no. 15.) pap., 10 c.
- Dole, Nathan Haskell. A score of famous composers. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1891.] c. 540 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
Twenty brief biographies, accompanied by portraits of as many famous composers. Beginning with Palestrina and ending with Wagner, the twenty composers, while in the majority of German origin, still embrace representatives of England and Italy, Hungary and Russia, of France and Poland. Simple and straightforward in style, these sketches aim above all to acquaint the reader, and especially the young, with the personality of the subjects. Particular insistence has been laid on their early days and the influences which helped or hindered their careers.
- Drosines, Georgios, Amaryllys. N. Y., Cas-sell Pub. Co., [1891.] c. 3+154 p. nar. D. (The unknown lib., no. 7.) cl., 50 c.
A graceful love-story of modern Athens.
- Ducoudray, Gustave. The history of modern civilization: a handbook based upon G. Ducoudray's Histoire sommaire de la civilisation. N. Y., Appleton, 1891. 19+587 p. il. D. cl., $2.25.
A continuation and completion of "The history of ancient civilization." Aims to give to young students and the general readers a comprehensive view of the progress of the nations, as far as it is known, out of the decadence of ancient civilization, through mediæval barbarism, until they emerge in modern and advance to contemporary civilization. Though based on Ducoudray's work, this handbook is rather an adaptation than a translation, as Ducoudray's standpoint is too exclusively French.

Fenn, G. Manville. A golden dream. N. Y., J. W. Lovell Co., [United States Book Co., 1891.] c. 3-261 p. D. (Lovell's international ser., no. 172.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Story of Hayti just after the emancipation of the slaves. A young octoroon is married by a French planter who is killed by his friend for the sake of the wife. The woman sends her child to France and educates her as a lady, then brings her home. The contrasts of life in a rich convent and the life at her mother's, who keeps a "cabaret," are strongly pictured. The mystic celebrations of the Voodoo worship brought over by savage slaves from Africa play a great part in the plot. This is a kind of idolatrous fetichism full of horrors, mysteries, revelry and debauch.

Festetits, Kate Neely. Leslie Rossiter: what she was born for. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., 1891. 318 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

French, Alice, ["Octave Thanet," pseud.] We all; il. by E. J. Austen and J. P. Birren. N. Y., Appleton, 1891. c. 4-280 p. O. (Good books for young readers.) cl., $1.50.

Mr. Raimund, a rich Chicago merchant, writes to his cousin in Arkansas begging her to take his boy Cecil and keep him while his mother is wintering in the south of France. Cecil has been petted and spoiled and is overbearing and snobbish. "We all" are the young cousins who rejoice to receive him. The book gives the details of his stay among them and much information on negro superstitions, the Ku-Klux Klan, etc., etc.

From the heart of England; a story of the dawn of modern missions; by the author of "Old Bristol." Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., 1891. 416 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Gittings, Ella Beecher. Margery's vacation. Bost., Congregational S. S. & Pub. Soc., [1891.] c. 2-308 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Margery is a character not impossibly perfect, but delightfully real and wholesome. She has a beautiful home, but convinced that a young friend of hers needs an outing more than she does, Margery sends her off on a trip to Colorado and takes her place, spending her own vacation in doing her work in a home which is a great contrast to her own. Her task, too, turns out to be no light one, but it is persevered in, and proves to be spiritually as much benefit to her as the Colorado trip is physically to her friend.

"The Green Jackets" was the name of a rifle corps that was organized in the latter part of the eighteenth century. Its action in the battle of Copenhagen is a noteworthy part of an historic story. The hero, a volunteer Green Jacket, was rescued in infancy from a burning transport; his eventful life and some important incidents of English history is the basis of the story. The troubles between England and Denmark are graphically described. Lord Nelson and other famous personages of that day are introduced.

In 1854, while the brig Berlin was lying at Shanghai, a young Japanese boarded her, and through kindness of the captain was allowed to escape from his native land. He was transferred to the Wild Rover, owned by Alpheus Hardy & Co., of Boston, and in due time reached that city. Mr. Alpheus Hardy became interested in him, adopted him and gave him a good English education. After a time he returned to Japan and became one of the most conspicuous representatives of the spirit and energy which have made the modernization of Japan so rapid and so full of promise. The story of his life is chiefly in his own words. He was a broad-minded missionary and taught throughout his life that education is one of the most important works of a country.

The characters are a brute of a husband and a much-enduring wife, who finally revolts; a charming girl, who is a friend of the family; a fine fellow, just back from India, who admires the girl; a maiden aunt who is full of angles and absurdities; a scapegrace brother of the abused wife and a chance admirer of the heroine. The movement is as rapid as that of a comedietta. There are a number of unexpected incidents which culminate in some capital situations, and the story ends pleasingly for all concerned.

The captivating story of the attempt to rescue General Gordon is the central theme of this romance. Two boys are the heroes. Their identity has been lost in their cradles, and no one can tell which is the son of the wealthy Captain Clinton or which of Sergeant Humphreys. But they both grow up such fine fellows and win so much renown in the Nile campaign that Captain Clinton loves both equally and divides his fortune between them.

This story deals with the siege of Gibraltar in 1779-83 by the united forces of France and Spain. The hero of the tale, an English lad resident in Gibraltar, takes a brave and worthy part in the long defence, and it is through his varied experiences that we learn with what bravery, and tenacity the Rock was held for England.

The central interest of this story is found in the many adventures of Hugh Tunstall, a Cumberland lad who finds it necessary to flee from his uncle's house. He makes his way to New York, and from thence goes to the wildest districts of Texas, where he becomes a cowboy on a cattle ranch. His experiences present in picturesque form the exciting, toilsome life of a cowboy, while the perils of a frontier settlement are vividly set forth.

Of all the English provinces in America, Georgia had least cause to revolt against the mother country. For many years Governor Wright strove to reason the State into obedience and subjection, and in none of the States were the calamities of a divided government and the horrors of internecine discussions more pronounced. The twenty-five members who took their seats in the Continental Congress, whose deeds are here recorded, were all good men, and many of them gentlemen of high culture and social and political distinction. Their biographies form a valuable addition to early American history.

Mr. Harry Wynne, the hero, is introduced at the age of twenty-one at home in the best society of London. All his life he has taken it for granted he should marry his playmate, Intbia Grey. Just as the young people have declared their love, Captain Heaton, a rich old bachelor, desires to marry Intbia. He uses all his influence to get Harry into trouble and have him suspected of fraud, and the entire story deals with the schemes laid by him and his fellow-thieves to disgrace his young rival.

Another English story of family feuds, death-bed repentance, concealed wills, etc. By grandfather, uncle and cousin Anthony Henderson has been kept out of his inheritance. He becomes tutor to Stephen Ellicott's daughter, who afterwards marries his cousin, the young lord of the manor-house and lands. The story deals with the discovery by the wife of Lancelot Henderson's concealment of his father's will, handed him at his father's death-bed. The heir is a physician who holds many conversations with his friend, the easy-going, rich rector of Thorpe Bredy, in which the duties, responsibilities and opportunities of clergymen and doctors are specially pointed out.

A series of lectures to theological students by the professor of Old Testament literature and exegesis in the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. The earlier lectures deal with arguments for the existence of God, and the later with arguments relating to the doctrine of the Trinity. The most interesting feature to most readers will be the presentation of the doctrine of the Trinity, which in method and form, though not in results, is new in English literature. The treatment of the whole subject is intended to be strictly scientific, and yet to take into account modern phases of thought.

Four stories: The scarlet tanager; Grandmother's gold beads; Hill Hardack's Newfoundland pup; Paul Garwin's Christmas Eve. The first and longest story has a perverse hero, who though bright and intelligent is found to be very unmanageable by parents and teacher. His great passion is ornithology. In trying to get a "scarlet tanager" he has shot, he falls into a hollow tree and suffers a dreadful imprisonment for many hours before he is found. These hours are spent in repentance for his shortcomings and in good resolutions for the future.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 3, 1891.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The next important reason is that the Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY forms the basis of "The American Catalogue" and so the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

ON THE SITUATION IN SAN FRANCISCO.

"No bookseller west of the Rocky Mountains, depending on the sale of miscellaneous books alone, ever made expenses, or can now make expenses, or will be able to do so during the remainder of this century or until well into the next."

This remarkable statement, quoted from a rejoinder of the Bancroft Company to the criticisms by several San Francisco houses on their action in cutting rates, printed elsewhere in this issue, if meant as a threat, must be left to the several houses whom it might concern to consider as they see fit. If, however, it is meant to be a plain statement of the condition of the book trade on the Pacific coast, there certainly could be no better argument for an immediate movement in the direction of a thorough reform of the methods of the book trade of that section of the country. We can hardly believe that the Bancroft Company wish to be taken seriously when they propose as a way out of the difficulty to recoup themselves for losses incurred in selling books by profits on other lines—"usually a little stationery." Such an expedient seems to us not only problematical but dangerous.

From our knowledge of the situation, we are inclined to think there is as little justification for underselling west of the Rocky Mountains as there is east of them. It certainly cannot be for the lack of a constituency, because, as the Bancrofts themselves point out, there are in San Francisco "many subscription and free libraries and 100,000 copies of newspapers sold every Sunday." Surely, then, among a people that takes such a live interest as this in reading, the booksellers of San Francisco, if they understand their business and are reasonable, ought to find not only an ample but a profitable constituency. Readers are bookbuyers, or become so in time, and once they become patrons of bookstores let them be put on the same footing as purchasers of hats, shoes or other merchandise—that is, let them pay a fair price for the service rendered them. No one in California, any more than elsewhere in the world, thinks of asking his hatter for a discount on any pretext, or expects his shoemaker or grocer to shade their prices for no reason whatever. Then why should this absurd system obtain among booksellers? Neither do we see why a bookseller west of the Rocky Mountains should give away a whale that he may have a chance of catching a sprat. Bad as is the bookseller's lot in the East, he hasn't quite come to that yet.

However, we are glad to hear from another source that the outlook seems more hopeful than a few weeks ago. And it will continue to improve if the representative dealers can be brought to co-operate in this matter. Booksellers must learn that upon themselves alone depends their salvation. They have largely brought this discount evil upon themselves by unrestricted and reckless competition. They must get rid of it by the contrary policy.

THE GROWTH OF THE SUNDAY NEWSPAPER.

ONE of the most remarkable signs of the growing reading capacity of the American people is given in the rapid development of the Sunday editions of the daily newspapers. From mere chronicles of events these have developed into vehicles of contemporary English literature, and seem now anxious to assume the functions of the average quarterly and monthly magazines, as well as those of the weekly paper. Starting with a limited amount of "syndicate matter," the leading newspapers at least now devote their space almost exclusively to original matter by the best American and English writers of the day. As an illustration, one of these, the Sunday Sun, in addition to original papers on contemporary historical literature, on art and literature, short stories and poetry, has recently been printing one of the most important and instructive series of papers on natural history, by the celebrated naturalist, St. George Mivart; also a series of letters from the Southern Pacific, by Robert Louis Stevenson, for which he was paid $10,000. A few weeks ago the Sun purchased from Mark Twain (for $12,000) his new novel. It has also secured from the same author a series of letters containing the fruit of his observations during his present tour of Europe, for each of which he is to receive $1200, the highest sum, probably, that has ever been paid for correspondence of this kind. The Sun has also acquired, at $10,000, from William Dean Howells the right to his new novel, "The Quality of Mercy," as well as a continued story from Joel Chandler Harris. This represents possibly over $50,000 which one newspaper alone is willing to pay for extra attractions that cannot possibly cover more than four months' issues. And there are at least half a dozen others in this country that spend liberal sums of money for the same purpose, forming altogether a formidable competition to weaker magazines and journals.

The comfort to be drawn by the bookseller from this condition of things is that it helps to cultivate readers. The supposition that the extra reading-matter presented by the newspaper at the present day tends to reduce the number of bookbuyers is one that is probably without foundation. For every one reader who carefully preserves his Sunday paper and conscientiously reads all it contains, there are eleven others who will read enough of the matter offered by his newspaper to gain the desire to read it in a handier and more attractive shape, and so wait until the story, or essays, or whatever the matter may be, is concluded and published in book form. First issue in a newspaper, instead of hurrying the sale of books often pushes and advertises them. Whether the newspapers will make enough out of this new departure to make it a permanent feature is a matter concerning which many doubts are entertained. But then "that is another story."

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL CATALOGUE OF MACMILLAN & CO.'S PUBLICATIONS, 1843-1889.

MACMILLAN & Co. have just issued a catalogue entitled "A Bibliographical Catalogue of Macmillan & Co.'s Publications from 1843 to 1889," which has more than an ephemeral interest. As a record of the achievements of a firm of spirited publishers the book makes appeal to modern readers. It must remain useful to all who are engaged in bibliographical pursuits, and will win a place on the shelves of general reference of those engaged in literary studies. The arrangement of the volume is by yearly lists in alphabetical order, later editions being given under the original entry, while an index of 180 pages renders easy the task of reference. The titles and collations were taken from copies of the first edition of every book, except in a few instances. The publishers describe as an edition "an impression from type set up afresh either with or without alteration, and read for press by a proof-reader." An impression from standing type or from stereotype or electrotypes plates is described as a reprint. It need hardly be said that the number of editions or reprints of any given book is no accurate guide as to its sale, as an edition may consist of 250 or of 100,000 copies. The cataloguing, a marvel of minute bibliographical work, was done by Mr. James Foster. The history of the proceedings of the firm, its changes of site and other matters since its first book—Craig's "Philosophy of Training," D. & A. Macmillan, 1843—was issued from 57 Aldersgate Street, is given, and portraits of the two founders of the firm are supplied. On the cover are stamped as ornaments the various vignettes and monograms used on their title-pages.

In the preface some account is given of the gradual rise of the house, and from this we make the following extract:

"The first work bearing the name of Macmillan on its title-page is Craig's 'Philosophy of Training,' published in 1843 by D. & A. Macmillan, 57 Aldersgate Street. In the summer of the same year, with the assistance of Archdeacon Hare, Daniel Macmillan purchased Newby's business at 17 Trinity Street, Cambridge, intending to carry it on in conjunction with his younger brother, Alexander, who was to remain in London. Before the end of the year, however, the Aldersgate Street shop was given up, and both brothers settled in Cambridge, where, in 1845, they bought the business of Mr. Stephenson, at 1 Trinity Street. In order to provide the capital necessary for this purchase a partner was taken in, and the firm became Macmillan, Barclay & Macmillan until the retirement of Mr. Barclay in 1850, when it adopted the name of Macmillan & Co., which it has retained ever since.

"In 1858, the year after Daniel Macmillan's death, a branch house was opened at 23 Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, and in 1863 the headquarters of the firm was once more removed to London (16 Bedford Street, Covent Garden), the retail bookselling business remaining at Cambridge as an independent establishment, where it is still carried on under the name of Macmillan & Bowes. A further move was made in 1872 to the present offices (29 and 30 Bedford Street), and it may be noted that the three buildings in which the business has been carried on since 1858 are within forty yards of each other.

"In 1863 Mr. Alexander Macmillan was appointed publisher to the University of Oxford, a post which he held until October, 1880, when the delegates of the University Press abandoned the system of employing a private publisher and took the management of their numerous publications into their own hands. When this change was made the University of Oxford expressed its appreciation of Mr. Macmillan's services by conferring on him the degree of Master of Arts honoris causa.

"In the year 1869 Macmillan & Co. opened a branch house in New York under the management of Mr. George E. Brett, who conducted it until his death in 1890, when the firm of Macmillan & Co. of New York was constituted on an independent basis consisting of the members of the London firm, with Mr. George Platt Brett as resident American partner. Macmillan & Co., of New York, besides representing the English firm of Macmillan & Co. are the authorized American agents for the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge and importers of the publications of many English and Scotch houses.

"The present members of the firm are: Alexander Macmillan, George Lilie Craik (admitted in 1865), Frederick Macmillan (1874), George Augustin Macmillan (1879), Maurice Macmillan (1883)."

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE LITERARY CONGRESS.

AT the session of the Literary Congress at Neuchâtel September 29, the American Copyright law was discussed. The wish was expressed that the United States would rescind the clause of the law compelling books to be reprinted in that country, and it was declared that provisionally a term of six months for republication and the fulfilment of all formalities under the law would be desirable. On September 30 a resolution was passed, the substance of which was that it was desirable, in the opinion of the association, that the United States should recognize that the sale of a work of art does not include the sale of the right to produce such work of art. In the course of the day a cable message of greeting from the American Copyright League was received with cheers.

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT LAW.

THE House of Commons adopted a radical address to Her Majesty on the afternoon of September 29, in regard to the copyright question. The address asks that the Imperial Parliament pass an act giving effect to the Canadian Copyright act of 1889 at once and confirming the right of the Parliament of Canada, according to the promise made by the Imperial Government in 1846, to make laws on the subject of copyright as from time to time may be required for the country, notwithstanding that such laws may be inconsistent with the provision of imperial statutes passed before the adoption of the British North American act of 1867.

The address concluded by praying that in order to give full effect to the Canadian act of 1889, notice now be given by the imperial authorities of the withdrawal of Canada from the Berne Copyright Convention.

OBITUARY NOTES.

RUDOLPH GARRIGUE, President of the Germania Fire Insurance Co., who died in Vienna September 28, gave promise forty years ago of becoming one of the leading publishers of this country; but owing to an accident his energies were directed into a field which promised to be more remunerative, and on which he actually won for himself a reputation for ability, sagacity and other high qualities that will endure. Mr. Garrigue was born in Copenhagen in 1822. After receiving a superior education he was sent to Lüneburg, an important Hanoverian town, where he was apprenticed to Herold & Wahlstab, then the leading booksellers in that section of the country. There he formed the acquaintance of the late F.W. Christern, a fellow-apprentice, which ripened into a friendship that lasted through life. Mr. Christern becoming his brother-in-law and for a time partner in the book business in this country. In the forties, Mr. Garrigue having become a journeyman bookseller, set out for the centre of the German book trade (Leipzig), accredited as a bookseller of highest merit. He entered the employ of Brockhaus, where he soon rose to the highest place. As evidence of the esteem in which his ability and judgment were held is the fact that in 1845, when a number of the leading German publishing houses decided to canvass the United States with a view to establishing a depot, to be named "Deutsche Vereinsbuchhandlung," for German books in this country, Mr. Garrigue, a mere boy in the eyes of his principals, was entrusted with this difficult and important mission. He sailed for this country October 31, 1845, and travelled extensively through the South and West. He returned to Leipzig in April, 1846, and rendered an exhaustive report covering seventy-four closely-written quarto pages. Much of this report now reads almost like a prophecy. Among other facts he predicted that the centre of the German book trade would be in the West, which has been almost literally fulfilled, though ridiculed at the time. Mr. Garrigue also anticipated by thirty-five years the movement recently proposed to the Börsenverein by Mr. Ackermann—the establishment of an agency in New York or Philadelphia that would not only sell the books furnished to it by its principals in Germany, but print here from advance sheets and, if desirable, translate and print such works as would be likely to command a sale among the English-speaking people. The report was favorably received, but as only 149 shares of the necessary 300 were taken up the project fell through. Satisfied that the New World offered larger inducements to an enterprising young man of talent and capacity for hard work, he came to this country June 1, 1847, bringing with him his friend F. W. Christern. He established himself in the book business at No. 6 or 8 Barclay Street, under the Astor House, carrying a full line of German and French books, as well as the better class of American books. In 1853 Mr. Christern entered into partnership with him, and the firm became Garrigue & Christern. Mr. Garrigue before this had begun the translation and adaptation of Brockhaus' "Iconographic Encyclopædia." In 1854 a fire destroyed the plates, stock and ms. of the unpublished parts, which so discouraged Mr. Garrigue that he determined if possible to enter a new field. On May 1, 1854, Mr. Garrigue succeeded Gustav Schwab as President of the Deutsche Gesellschaft of New York, in which position, and as Commissioner of Emigration, he introduced a number of reforms by which the sufferings not only of German emigrants but those from other countries were considerably relieved. In 1859 he assisted in the organization of the Germania Fire Insurance Company, became its first Secretary, was afterwards promoted to the Vice-Presidency, and in 1866 was chosen President, which position he held at the time of his death. He was recognized by the insurance fraternity as one of its ablest representatives, having held the position of President of the National Board of Underwriters and afterwards being elected President of the Board of Fire Underwriters of the City of New York. In May last Mr. Garrigue was stricken with apoplexy, but his case was not considered alarming, and in July he went to Europe in search of rest and health. His death took place unexpectedly, and the news of it was sent by cable by his daughter, who accompanied him. Among the children who survive him is Mrs. A. H. Leypoldt (widow of Mr. Frederick Leypoldt), who is at present actively engaged in the work of this office.

HENRY KIDDLE, formerly Superintendent of the Public Schools of New York City, died of an attack of paralysis at his home in New York on the morning of September 27. Mr. Kiddle was born in Bath, Eng., in 1824, and was brought to this country when about nine years old. At the age of thirteen he began his career as school-teacher by taking a place as teacher in the old Public School Society, which was maintained by private subscription. This society was followed by the Public School Society of the City of New York. Mr. Kiddle, when but seventeen years old, was the first principal of the first school established by this society. He was afterwards principal of several schools, and while engaged in teaching he studied law in the office of Samuel J. Tilden. He was admitted to the bar in 1848.

A few years afterwards he was appointed Assistant Superintendent of Public Schools under City Superintendent Samuel Randall, whom he succeeded in 1870. In May, 1879, he unexpectedly published a book which purported to contain messages sent to him through his son and daughter from the spirit world. This gave rise to so much adverse criticism that on May 22 Mr. Kiddle sent in his resignation as Superintendent of Public Schools. There was a disposition on the part of some of the members of the Board of Education to retain Mr. Kiddle in spite of his decided stand for spiritualism, but they lacked three votes of having a majority. His resignation was accepted in September, 1879. In 1876 he prepared for E. Steiger a "Cyclopædia of Education," with the assistance of Professor Alexander J. Schem, for which the University of France decorated him and gave him the title of "Officer of the Academy." He also published a "Dictionary of Education" and an annual "Year Book of Education." His text-books were chiefly works on astronomy and physics. He was the compiler of "Brown's Grammar," which is now in use in the public schools of New York City. A year and a half ago Mr. Kiddle lost the sight of one of his eyes through a paralytic stroke. Last October a second paralytic stroke deprived him of the sight of the other eye. Not altogether dismayed by these misfortunes, he continued at his work with the aid of an amanuensis. He was recently engaged upon some essays and also upon some lectures on spiritualism.

PROF. WILLIAM FERRELL, the eminent meteorologist, died at Kansas City, September 21. He was born in Bedford, now Fulton, County, Pa., January 29, 1817. He was for ten years connected with the office of the American Ephemeris and Nautical Almanac. In 1882 he was made assistant in the office of the U. S. Signal Service Bureau, which he held until 1886, when he retired to Kansas City, which he made his home. His principal works are "Motions of Fluids and Solids Relative to the Earth's Surface," published in 1859; "Determinations of the Moon's Mass from Tidal Observations," 1871; "Converging Series Expressing the Ratio between the Diameter and the Circumference of a Circle," 1871; "Tidal Researches," 1874; "Tides of Tahiti," 1874; "Meteorological Researches," in three parts, published consecutively, in 1875, 1878 and 1881; "Temperature of the Atmosphere and the Earth's Surface," 1884, and "Recent Advances in Meteorology," 1883.

THE REV. DR. ROBERT TRAILL SPENCE LOWELL, the brother of the late James Russell Lowell, who died in Schenectady, N. Y., September 12, was best known as the author of a religious novel entitled "The New Priest in Conception Bay." The scene of the story was laid in Newfoundland, where Dr. Lowell was stationed in early life for four years as an Episcopal missionary, having charge of Bay Roberts Parish, which figures as "Peterport." Afterwards he had charge of the mission parish of Christ Church, Newark, N. J., from which he went to Duaneburg, N. Y. He wrote a number of other books in prose and poetry, but his best-known work is "The New Priest," which has had a steady sale for the last thirty years.

A CABLE despatch from St. Petersburg, dated September 28, announces the death there of Ivan

Alexejewitsch Gontscharow, the Russian author. He was born in the Government of Simbirsk, in 1823. In 1858 he published his first novel, "Obiknovennaja Istoria," which was very successful and gave him a high position among Russian writers. This was followed by two other works, "Obiomow," in 1859, and "Obryv," in 1870. These works are descriptive of Russian life. Gontscharow also wrote a description of a voyage around the world that he made on the frigate Pallada, in 1854, as a commissioner of the Russian Government.

AMOS J. BICKNELL, publisher of the Architectural and Building Monthly, died September 21, at Elizabeth, N. J. He was born in Massachusetts in 1839, and went to Elizabeth about twenty years ago. He was the founder of the firm of A. J. Bicknell & Co., which afterwards became Bicknell & Comstock, and then W. T. Comstock, publishers of architectural books and periodicals. Mr. Bicknell since retiring from the firms just mentioned was associated with several different periodicals devoted to architecture and building, and established a building exchange in New York.

HON. JOSEPH T. CROWELL, President of the New Jersey Senate in 1862 and Speaker of the House of Assembly in 1865, died September 22 at Rahway, in which city he was born seventy-five years ago. He published the first pictorial paper printed in the United States—Crowell's Pictorial—which he printed somewhat after the style of the London Illustrated News for five years. He owned the Government Printing Office until he sold it to the United States.

HERMAN MELVILLE died September 28 at his residence, 104 East Twenty-sixth Street, New York City, of heart failure, aged seventy-two. He was the author of "Typee," "Omoo," "Moby Dick," and other sea-faring tales, written in earlier years. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. M. B. Thomas and Miss Melville.

CHARLES ADOLPH PINETON, Marquis de Chambrun and Marquis de Ampreville, author of "The Rights and Liberties of the American People of the United States," died at New York, September 13, aged 60 years.

CYRUS M. TRACY, a distinguished botanist, died suddenly September 28, at Lynn, Mass., aged 67 years. His "Studies of Essex Flora," "Sketch of Lynn" and "History of Worcester County" won for him local fame.

COMMUNICATIONS.

THE SITUATION IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 23, 1891.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly:

DEAR SIR: . . . The situation is rapidly improving, and it now looks as though we may have an era of full prices. The publishers have, in many cases, taken an active interest in the "cut-rate" question, and from what I now know they are more interested in the matter than the retailer generally imagines.

The question of underselling can be fairly settled if the retail booksellers will only organize, or in some manner formulate their ideas or grievances and give the publisher some basis on which to work. Individual complaints regarding "cutting" can naturally receive but little attention. Should the representative retail dealers combine their complaints would be fairly judged. The Bancroft Company are not now giving a discount on Harper & Brothers' publications, which is very encouraging, as it must be detrimental to a "cut-price" trade to make an exception of the publications of a leading house. A bookstore has been opened in the "Golden Rule Bazar," a department concern of this city, and cut prices are the rule. Many of D. Appleton & Co.'s, Lippincott's, Houghton, Mifflin & Co.'s and other well-known publishers' publications are sold at 20 per cent. discount. The retail dealers here believe they know where the stock comes from, as it is supplied by jobbers here, and will probably take some concerted action should "cut prices" be continued.

Yours very truly,

A. M. ROBERTSON.

A REPLY FROM THE BANCROFT COMPANY.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Sept. 1, 1891.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly:

DEAR SIR: But for the highly respectable character of your journal we should pay no attention to the misleading and uncalled-for attacks on us in your columns by certain small and not too reliable booksellers of this city. Sifted down, the charge is that for goods we buy and pay for we make prices to suit ourselves and not them, and publishers are asked to force us to conform to their wishes.

In answer we would say that these dealers have always been in the habit of making discounts to certain customers to suit themselves; we simply treat everybody alike and give a uniform discount to all. It has long been the custom here to give schools and libraries 25 per cent. and dealers from 25 to 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. discount, and get the money, if at all, when convenient to the purchaser. We can certainly retail for cash at 20 per cent. off, with usually a little stationery with the books at a good profit, and do better for ourselves than that. And we imagine few publishers will find fault because we sell their books as low as we possibly can afford to, and work off as many as we can, if we pay for them.

As a matter of fact, trade being continuously dull, we concluded to shade prices and increase sales, as much for the benefit of the publishers, who thought we should do more with their books, as for our own benefit. There are here many subscription and free libraries, and 100,000 copies of newspapers containing reading-matter equivalent to a good sized 12mo sold every Sunday for five cents. We had no thought of injuring any one, least of all our little friends who fail periodically, and seem now to be looking for some soft place to fall. They would hardly have the face to charge their past failures in business to us, as we had not then reduced our prices at retail. It seems to us that just cause for complaint is all on our side; for besides being badly victimized ourselves through their failures, we have to-day to place in competition stock which costs us 100 cents with stock which cost our complaining friends, some of them, 30 or 50 cents on the dollar.

"It is only a question of time," one says, "when the dealer who gives that discount must succumb and compound with his creditors." If that is true as applied to us, publishers should sell us only for cash. If the writer means himself, we would say that to "succumb and compound with his creditors" is not a question of time or discount, but rather one of convenience.

In conclusion, for the edification of those interested, we may say that no bookseller west of the Rocky Mountains, depending upon the sale of miscellaneous books alone, ever made expenses, or can now make expenses, or will be able to do so during the remainder of this century, or until well into the next. Meanwhile, may our little brethren possess their souls in peace, and not try to lay their coming failures at our door. Very respectfully,

THE BANCROFT COMPANY.

IN RE THE NILE PUBLISHING CO.

CHICAGO, September 29, 1891.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly:

DEAR SIR: . . . We note that you have an item [in the issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for September 26] wherein you state that Nile C. Smith, of the Nile Publishing Co., has sold out his interest to Charles Sergel & Co. This is not true, and we request you to publish this contradiction. . . .

Very truly yours,

CHARLES H. SERGEL & Co.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MAJOR JOSEPH KIRKLAND, the author of "Zury" is writing two histories of Chicago.

THEODORE TILTON is preparing a volume of his poems which will be issued during the winter.

DR. EDWARD W. EGGLESTON, the well-known author, was married at Madison, Ind., September 14, to Miss Fannie Goode, of that city.

MR. EDISON will himself illustrate, it is said, the romance on the future of electricity which he is writing in collaboration with Mr. G. P. Lathrop.

RUDYARD KIPLING's age is definitely fixed by the statement that he was born in Bombay in Christmas week, 1865, and is therefore in his twenty-sixth year.

F. W. BOURDILLON, the author of the poem beginning "The night has a thousand eyes," has prepared for publication a volume under the title of "A Lost God."

MR. MARION CRAWFORD has nearly completed a new story which he is writing for Messrs. Macmillan & Co. We understand that the novel will first appear serially in Macmillan's Magazine.

MAARTEN MAARTENS, the author of "The Sin of Joost Avelingh" and "An Old Maid's Love," has written a serial story for Mr. Bently, which will be commenced in the Temple Bar Magazine next January.

DR. LANSDELL is engaged on a volume that will embody the results of his last journey in the East. He travelled over 50,000 miles, visiting Little Tibet and the less-known districts of Chinese Central Asia.

MRS. MARY BRYAN, editor of the Monro Library, owns a small plantation down in Georgia, and baled the first cotton this year in her State. Mrs. Bryan, who is also known as the "automatic novel-writer," it is said, gets out a fresh romance in serial form every six weeks.

LORD TENNYSON has just completed the first work he has ever written expressly for the stage, and Augustin Daly has secured its exclusive acting rights. It will not be printed until after it has received its first public representation, which will take place in New York during the coming winter.

W. E. NORRIS has recently finished a new novel, which he has disposed of to a literary syndicate for publication in serial form. The heroine is a countess of fabulous wealth, the hero a rising member of Parliament, and the scene changes from the English country to Paris and thence to London.

MISS MÉNIE MURIEL DOWIE, the "Girl in the Karpathians," has married Mr. Henry Norman, an author and journalist. Mr. and Mrs. Norman are spending their honeymoon on a visit to Scotland, where the pleasures of shooting and fishing, as readers of Mrs. Norman's book will not be surprised to hear, are being pursued by both with equal zest.

MRS. LOUISA MEREDITH is probably the oldest literary woman who is able to still attend to the printing of her own works. A few weeks ago Mrs. Meredith came all the way from the Antipodes to London to see the last of a favored series of her works through the press. Mrs. Meredith wrote "Bush Friends in Tasmania" and many other volumes. At least twenty works of fiction, poetry and descriptive life on Australia and Tasmania have come from Mrs. Meredith's pen since 1839, in which year she emigrated to the colonies.

DR. DE KROUSTCKOFF, an eminent chemist and mineralogist of St. Petersburg, recently paid a visit of some weeks to the United States, charged with a scientific mission by the Russian Government. Dr. de Kroustckoff announces a series of translations in Russian from the works of leading American, French and German scientists. The first of these volumes will appear next year, and is to comprise the greater part of Dr. T. Sterry Hunt's "New Basis for Chemistry," together with his studies of the origin and succession of crystalline rocks, the crenitic hypothesis and various related subjects.

BUSINESS NOTES.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—J. W. Smith has succeeded to H. M. Reynolds & Co. as the proprietor of the "Eclectic Bookstore." Until further notice, no orders are to be credited unless signed by J. W. Smith.

PORTSMOUTH, VA.—T. L. Crump, bookseller and stationer, has been succeeded by Crump & Alfriend.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—The Northwestern Book House has made an assignment to Thomas S. Tompkins. Creditors must file their claims before November 2, 1891.

SHENANDOAH, IA.—Kinsley & Stevens, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Jno. J. Farren has sold out his book-store.

YPSILANTI, MICH.—The Van Cleve-Andrews Publishing Company has been incorporated to publish books, etc.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

Harper's Weekly has discarded the green cover and returned to the old form.

WILBUR B. KETCHAM, 2 Cooper Union, N. Y., has become sole New York agent for the publications of Warren F. Draper, of Andover, Mass.

ALBERT, SCOTT & Co., Chicago, will publish this fall a new edition of "Friendship," with half-tone portraits of Cicero, Bacon and Emerson.

HENRY MILLER, 65 Nassau Street, N. Y., has just issued a set of "Rules for Professional Whist Players," which seem to answer the questions "How not to do it."

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. report that the demand for their new edition of Dickens' works has been so large that they find it difficult to fill their orders promptly.

"MR. BEECHER AS I KNEW HIM" is an attractive title, and under it Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher began her series of personal reminiscences of her husband in the October Ladies' Home Journal.

THE NATIONAL PUBLISHING Co., through the U. S. Book Co., announce that after September 15 the price of the Red-Letter Series will be eleven cents. The cover will be changed and improvements made in the manufacture.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will issue at once a new novel by Mrs. L. B. Walford, entitled "The Mischief of Monica." The same firm have also in the press "Where Town and Country Meet," by Mrs. Baldwin, and "Beggars All," by Miss Dougall.

It is announced that Mr. Poultney Bigelow is preparing a history of the German empire, running back to the time just preceding the accession of Frederick the Great. Mr. Bigelow is a New Yorker and was a schoolmate of the present German Emperor.

By an unaccountable freak the printer converted the firm-name of Latimer & Sloan, in their advertisement on page 610 of last week's issue, into something else. Readers will please note the correct address: Latimer & Sloan, 1409 G Street, Washington.

THE WAVERLY COMPANY, New York, announce for immediate publication a new novel entitled "Morphine," which has just set all Paris talking. Its title indicates its scope. They will also publish shortly a new volume by Georges Ohnet, entitled "The Shoplifter."

"A MECHANIC don't work without tools. Can you?" Will our contemporary who thus heads an advertisement of his "Reference Directory" please note the impossibility of the sentence? A mechanic does not work without tools, mechanics don't. And so we say to our friend, don't do it again.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will shortly bring out under the international copyright law a volume entitled "Brave and True," by the well-known author, Thain Davidson. The work is written for young men and will be a companion to "Moral Muscle," by the editor of "The Young Man."

THE New York Typothetæ gave a dinner on the evening of September 22, at the Hotel Martin, New York, in honor of John Polhemus, for many years Chairman of the Executive Committee and at present Treasurer of the Association, who has just returned from Europe after an absence of four months.

THE GOSSIP PRINTING Co., Mobile, Ala., have just published 25-cent editions of T. C. De Leon's popular stories, "Juny, or, only one girl's story," and "Cross Purposes, an Experience in Seven Stages." Mr. De Leon's next novel, "A Fair Blockade Breaker," will appear in Lippincott's Magazine in November.

H. V. & H. W. POOR have just published "Poor's Directory of Railway Officials and Manual of American Street Railways" for 1891. New features introduced into the work this year are a careful alphabetically arranged summary of new railroad lines projected in this country and an indexed list of 10,000 railway officials.

THE AMERICAN PRESS COMPANY, of Baltimore, announce a work entitled "The Builders of a Great Country." It will be a book of representative Americans. The proposed work will contain correct biographies and portraits of those who are recognized as the representative Americans of the age in church and state, politics and commerce, science and manufactures, literature and art, press and progress.

HENRY GEORGE's open letter to the Pope has just been posted to Rome. It has gone in the form of proof slips, and in English. When published in book form it will make a volume of 100 pages. His disciples regard it as his most important work since "Progress and Poverty," and they will welcome it not only for its own sake, but as an evidence that Mr. George has entirely recovered from his really alarming illness of last year. The uneasiness of those about him during the earlier months of that illness was never known to the public.

THE young women publishers of Chicago—the Misses Searle and Gorton—announce several booklets for children, among which we mention "Our Dumb Friends," "Afloat and Ashore," by Dr. Edward Everett Hale; "Midshipman Davy," by Willis J. Abbott; "Zay," by Ruth Hay; "Old Grip the Crow," by Olive Thorne Miller; "Pete, and other stories," by Helen and William Starrett; "Anton and Antoine," a story of ants, by Rosalie Kaufman; "Sly and His Neighbors," by Francis Power Cobbe; "Mother Goose's Christmas Party," with songs attached, by Abby Morton Diaz; and "How the Rose Found the King's Daughter, and other stories," by Maude Menefee.

D. M. HENDERSON, of the University Book Store, Madison and Howard Streets, Baltimore, Md., offers to pay a dollar to the first person giving the name of the author of the following poem:

BOOKS.

I cannot think the glorious world of mind
Embalmed in books, which I can only see
In patches, though I read my moments blind,
Is to be lost to me!

I have a thought that as we live elsewhere
So do these dear creations of the brain:
That what I leave unread, I'll find, and there
Take up my joy again.

Oh then, the bliss of blisses, to be freed
From all the pangs by which through life we're driven,

With liberty and endless time to read
The libraries of Heaven!

"PORTABLE book-stalls on the east side of New York City," says the Sun, "sell hundreds of Hebrew prayer-books bound in curiously gilded cloth or leather. Indeed, the sale of foreign Bibles and books of devotion is very large all over the east side. Thousands of such books in the Hungarian tongue are sold annually, and the same is true of such works in Italian and German. There is likewise a large sale for English phrase-books, because the desire is strong among immigrants of nearly all nationalities to acquire some knowledge of the English tongue. In the French quarter, however, there is a considerable percentage of persons, some of them long in this country, that make no effort to learn English."

"LITERARY men are rarely found in political offices," says the New York Times, "but Brooklyn has had locked up in the County Clerk's office an author in the person of Daniel M. Tredwell. He has been in that place for over thirty years. He has devoted himself to careful literary work, and his name is familiar to the lovers of books that are not built in the trashy lines of the average novelist. One of his most familiar works is a 'Monograph on Private Illustrated Books,' and his 'Apollonius of Tyana' contains evidences of study and research. For several years he has been at work on the new book, 'The Nomads of the Sea,' which is really an endeavor to give an account of the human race in its early pilgrimages. This is nearly finished. Mr. Tredwell got his early literary training under Walt Whitman when that poet published the Brooklyn Freeman. Mr. Tredwell was one of Mr. Whitman's staff."

IN our notice of J. B. Lippincott Co.'s fall announcements last week we omitted, strangely enough, a notice of one of their new and important books, namely, the Supplement to "Allibone's Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors," by John Foster Kirk, LL.D. Though mentioned in previous issues of the WEEKLY we refer to it again as a work of particular interest and importance to the book trade. It will be in two octavo volumes, and will contain over seventy thousand articles (authors) enumerating over ninety-three thousand titles. It can hardly be doubted that Allibone's Dictionary, taken as a whole, embracing as it does in its original three volumes the names of over 46,000 authors, and in its Supplement (as above stated) those of 37,183 authors—with notices of their several hundred thousand books—will long remain without a rival as a bibliography of the literature of the English tongue. It is scarcely necessary to add that the usefulness of the work cannot but be greatly enhanced by the addition of these Supplementary volumes. The work may be expected November 2.

HENRY & Co., London, will publish in October, in one volume, George Moore's new novel, "Vain Fortune." The book will be illustrated by Maurice Greiffenhagen.

THE value of Cruikshank's illustrations does not decrease. At a recent sale in London a copy of Carey's "Life in Paris," with 20 colored plates (one having been torn out) and 22 woodcuts from Cruikshank's designs, was sold for nearly $45.

GERMAN papers announce that a portion of the literary remains of the late Baron von Bunsen, which have not yet been published and are presumed to be considerable, will shortly be issued under the editorship of the well-known church historian, Prof. F. W. Nippold, of Jena.

It is hoped that the long-promised life of Dr. Pusey will be published in October, 1892. The book is being completed by Canon Paget and Mr. Johnson, and the latter gentleman is also preparing a volume of Canon Liddon's correspondence for publication, which ought to be a work of the greatest interest. It appears that Canon Liddon had written about two-thirds of the life of Pusey when his last illness began.

FOR some time before his death Mr. William Blades was engaged on a history of printing, which was intended for publication in the Book-Lovers' Library, but it grew till it became too large for the series. The work will be edited by Mr. Talbot B. Reed, who will add to the volume a memoir of the author and a list of his monographs on the subject of printing. The work will be published by Mr. Stock and will be illustrated.

A MEETING of the recently formed Manchester Retail Newsagents' and Booksellers' Union was held Aug. 31, when a committee was appointed to carry out the objects which the Union has in view, among which is the check allowance of discount and the supply of literary works by publishers to those not in the trade on wholesale terms. It was stated that since the last meeting the membership had been increased by the addition of 250 new names.

THE attempt to revive the Oriental Translation Fund has failed, but the Council of the Royal Asiatic Society will lend its support to a new series of publications, beginning with a full and complete translation of the first two parts of Mirkhond's "Rauzat-us-Safa," or "Garden of Purity," which contains the Moslem version of our Bible stories from the creation of genii before Adam to the death of Aaron. Subscribers (for a limited edition) should address F. F. Arbuthnot, 18 Park Lane, London, W.

WILLIAM MORRIS, the poet, has lately issued from his Kelmscott Press his "Story of the Glittering Plain." The paper is hand-made, the binding vellum with wash-leather thongs or laces. The type is dark, the capitals are conventional and there is no title-page in the full sense of the word. The book is said to be already at a premium, though it is a little less valuable than it would have been had Mr. Morris determined to bring out for ordinary readers a cheaper edition on inferior paper.

BALZAC's house, No. 11 Rue Berryer, Paris, is about to be demolished. Although externally not of much account in an architectural sense, it has the biographical and personal associations dear to men of letters, and some of its details are curious; for instance, a door in marqueterie which belonged to the bedchamber of the novelist. This door, with a series of photographs of the house itself, the Baronne S. de Rothschild, its present owner, has offered to the Musée Carnavalet, which is already rich in relics of the men of letters of Paris.

BRÖDRENE SALMONSEN, the well-known Danish publisher, announces a new Scandinavian encyclopædia, the first part of which will appear in the spring of 1892 under the title of "Salmonsens's Store Illustrerede Konversationsleksikon for Norden." This work will be founded upon the recently completed fourth edition of Meyer's German "Konversationslexikon," and use of the 4000 illustrations appearing in that work has been secured. Many of the German articles will be translated, with special reference, however, to Scandinavian interests.

AN important work on the science and practice of medicine is announced by Librairie G. Masson, Paris, under the editorship of Doctors Charcot, Bouchard and Brissaud. "Le Traité de Médecine" will form six volumes, to be published within a maximum period of two years. The first volume, just ready, includes general infectious pathology, diseases of nutrition, diseases common to man and animals, and infectious diseases. The second volume will treat of fevers, cutaneous affections, diseases of the blood, and intoxication. It will be published in October.

SWAN SONNENSCHNEIN & Co. will publish shortly a "Browning Cyclopædia," by Dr. Edward Berdoe, one of the most active members of the Browning Society. This volume will deal with the whole of the poet's works, and will contain a commentary on every poem, with explanations of all obscurities and difficulties arising from the historical allusions, legends, classical and archaic phraseology, and curious out-of-the-way terminology which make Browning so difficult for the ordinary reader. The book will be published simultaneously in America by Macmillan & Co.

L. UPCOTT GILL, London, will issue immediately a third and greatly enlarged edition of the "Library Manual." The new edition has been completely rewritten by Mr. J. H. Slater, the editor of "Book Prices Current" and other bibliographical works, and now contains, in addition to much theoretical information about books, an extensive list of about 10,000 different works and editions, classed under the subjects to which they belong, and valued with reference to the most recent auction prices. The selection has been made from about 300 of the most important auction sales which have taken place in London during the last five years, comprising a record of considerably over 100,000 volumes in every department of English literature.

THE "Association Littéraire et Artistique Internationale," it appears, will not meet in Berlin, as was proposed, in connection with the annual meeting to be held this month in the German capital by the German Society of Authors. The President and Secretary of the French society, who had accepted the invitation of the Germans a month ago, declared recently that they would not go to Berlin, but would go to Milan where they would be better treated. They charged the Germans with disrespect, which was denied, and led to an unpleasant and unfortunate controversy. Much was expected of the congress at Berlin. For various reasons the representatives of the international society also failed to come to an agreement with their brethren in Milan, and postponed the meeting until next year. In all probability it will then take place at Milan.

AN enterprising Frenchman with a fancy for statistics has discovered that Alexander Dumas, the father, is the most widely read author in France. Millions of volumes bearing his name have been purchased by the French people. Emile Zola, whose publishers sell annually more than 100,000 volumes, and Ohnet, 6,000,000 of whose books are to be found in France, are next to Dumas in popularity. The statistician has also learned that during the last 20 years "The Belles of Corneville" has been produced on the stage 600 times; "The Journey 'Round the World in Eighty Days" and "Mascotte," 400 times; and "Mamselle Angot" and "Miss Helyett," 300 times. "The Journey 'Round the World in Eighty Days" and "Mamselle Angot" have earned each 2,000,000 francs for the fortunate authors and publishers; "Orpheus in the Lower World," 1,750,000 francs; "Theodora" and "Miss Helyett," 1,000,000 francs; and "Fin de Siècle," 500,000 francs. It is easily seen that writing in France is a good enterprise from a financial point of view.

SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON & Co. announce a new series by representative men in the Church of England and in the chief branches of Nonconformity, which will be published under the general title of Preachers of the Age. The volumes will each contain some 12 or 14 sermons or addresses specially chosen or written for the series, with photogravure portraits reproduced, in most instances, from unpublished photographs. It is also proposed to add to each volume a bibliography of all the books published by the author. The following volumes have already been arranged for: "Living Theology," by the Archbishop of Canterbury; "The Conquering Christ" and other sermons, by the Rev. Dr. Alexander Maclaren, of Manchester; "Verbum Crucis," by the Bishop of Derry; "Ethical Christianity," by the Rev. Hugh Price Hughes; "Sermons," by Canon W. J. Knox-Little, of Worcester; "Light and Peace" and other sermons, by the Rev. Dr. Henry R. Reynolds, President of Chestnut College; "Faith and Duty" and other sermons, by the Rev. Dr. A. M. Fairbairn, Principal of Mansfield College, Oxford; "Plain Words on Great Themes," by the Rev. Dr. J. Oswald Dykes, Principal of the English Presbyterian College, London; "Sermons," by the Bishop of Ripon; "Sermons," by the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, pastor of the Metropolitan Tabernacle; "Agonizæ Christi," by the Very Rev. Dr. William Lefroy, Dean of Norwich; and "Sermons," by the Rev. Handley C. G. Moule, Principal of Ridley Hall, Cambridge.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

WANTED the publisher of "Japanese Art," by Touse, translated by Mrs. Nickerson.

THE PAPER-MAKERS' DIRECTORY OF ALL NATIONS is published by Dean & Son, London.

To the several inquiries for addresses of firms dealing in second-hand, or "job-lot," paper novels, etc., in quantities, we reply that John J. Clancy & Co., 20 Rose Street, New York City, and a nameless party in the basement of No. 28 of the same street are the only firms known to us.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis, will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

MR. HENRY S. ALLEN, formerly of the firm of Leavitt & Allen Bros. and Geo. W. Carleton & Co., but more recently in business for himself as subscription-book publisher, having disposed of his interest, and preferring to wear rather than to rust out, seeks a position of trust, or he would invest in a new or an established book business if a good opening offered. It is hardly necessary to state that Mr. Allen, being master of the book-publishing and bookselling business in all its branches, would prove a valuable acquisition to any house. His address is No. 6 Clinton Place, N. Y.

CHRISTMAS!

THE most representative of the Christmas issues, having no special interests to represent, giving best value to both dealers and advertisers, and out first, is the Christmas issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. The cover will be new, tasteful and taking.

As usual, special articles on leading books, the finest specimen illustrations from others, full descriptive summary of new books and stationery novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1891, etc.

Furnished at the earliest possible date, orders recorded in order of receipt. As paper is made for it, we need prompt word. Prices are put below cost of manufacture, to insure the widest circulation to advertising.

To avoid delay it is absolutely necessary that copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, should accompany the order. All packages sent by express unpaid, unless other shipping directions are given.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

PUBLISHED OCTOBER 1:

An Introduction to the Literature of the Old Testament.

By Prof. S. R. DRIVER, D.D., of Oxford. Crown 8vo, net, $2.50.

Dr. Driver's volume is the first of the International Theological Library and is admirably adapted to introduce the series. It gives a critical account of the contents and structure of the books of the Old Testament, considered as Hebrew literature.

University Extension Manuals.

Each volume 12mo, net, $1.00.

THE USE AND ABUSE OF MONEY. By Dr. W. CUNNINGHAM.

THE FINE ARTS. By Prof. G. BALDWIN BROWN.

These two volumes introduce a most important series dealing with separate sections of Literature, Science, Philosophy, History and Art. The series is the outgrowth of the University Extension movement, but the volumes are also intended to be contributions to the literature of the subjects they treat, and will be found to meet a general rather than a special want.

Select Dialogues of Plato.

The set, four volumes, specially bound in buckram, gilt stamp, etc., in a box. 12mo, $5.00.

This valuable little set, now issued in dainty and attractive binding, comprises the volumes entitled "Socrates," "A Day in Athens with Socrates," "Talks with Socrates about Life," and "Talks with Athenian Youths."

NEW BOOKS FOR BOYS.

The Boy Settlers.

A Story of Early Times in Kansas. By NOAH BROOKS. Illustrated by W. L. ROGERS. 12mo, $1.25.

A vivid and spirited account of Kansas in the exciting days before the war. The dangers, sports, amusements and trials of the Northern emigrants were never more graphically and truthfully painted.

The Boy Emigrants.

By NOAH BROOKS. New and cheaper edition. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.25.

"One of the best boys' stories we have ever read. His heroes are thorough boys."—The Christian at Work.

A New Mexico David,

And Other Stories and Sketches of the Southwest. By CHARLES F. LUMMIS. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.25.

Mr. Lummis has made excellent use of the novel and interesting materials which the wild life of this unknown region offers. There are sixteen sketches based upon his experiences among the Mexicans and Indians of the Southwest.

Manual of the Science of Religion.

By P. D. CHANTEPIE DE LA SAUSSAYE, Prof. of Theology at Amsterdam. Crown 8vo, - - - $3.50
Though the science of religion has of late years awakened a wider interest in England than anywhere else, there was hitherto no manual that could be used as an introduction to the study of that science. The lectures delivered during the last twelve years by the Hibbert and by the Gifford Lecturers in London, Oxford, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Aberdeen, and St. Andrews, most of which have been published, treat each of a special branch only of the comparative study of religions. They are chiefly intended for more advanced students, and presuppose an acquaintance with the general outlines of the science of religion; but there was no book from which trustworthy information on the whole subject could be gained.—EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.
